

This map, furnished Semmler Press by the district engineer's office of the Illinois division of highways at Elgin, shows the course of FAI-80 thru that portion of Will county east of Joliet.

As is readily seen there are full clover leaf interchanges at 2-A south of Tinley Park and on U.S. 45 in the vicinity of the WLS transmitting tower and a partial clover leaf on U.S. 30 east of Providence high school.

These are the only points until one gets into Joliet where a traveler can get off or on this highway after leaving Tinley Park.

The partial clover leaf on U.S. 30 east of Gougar road will require some traffic to make a left turn across the traffic on Route 30. A similar condition exists on Route 30 where access is had to U.S. 66 (FAI-55) near Plainfield. This is hazardous, it has been pointed out, but the cost of construction is cheaper.

Route 42-A will cross over FAI-80 as will U.S. 45, and all the other roads it encounters. Francis road will cross over 80, Parker road

Wolf road and all the others except the interchange on Route 30 near Gougar road. There 80 will cross Hickory creek, the Rock Island railroad and U.S. 30. The Michigan Central (or New York Central) will cross over 80 south of U.S. 30.

It is cheaper, state engineers explained, to carry a two-lane road over a multi-lane expressway than the other way around.

The state highway office is shooting for completion of FAI - 80 from Hazel Crest thru Will county -- at least from Gougar road east -- by the end of 1964. It's program for 1963 now calls for building the grade separations and acquiring right-of-way with grading and paving completed in 1964.

If the road is not completed thru Joliet traffic could be routed around that community, it was pointed out, by diverting traffic at Gougar road.

With the side roads going over FAI-80, observers commented, the landscape may take on a scenic railway appearance.

Mother And Son Die In Apparent Murder-Suicide

A Matteson school teacher and her son are dead, believed to be the result of a murder-suicide and their funerals were conducted last Saturday from the Goodale chapel in Lockport. She also formerly taught in the Kirby - McIntosh school at Tinley for the school year 1960-61.

The victims were Mrs. Joan Hillock, 44, and the son, Sam, 18, a senior at Lockport high school.

Mrs. Hillock was shot twice thru the head with bullets fired from a 22 rifle. The son is believed to have shot her as she stood at a sink in their small home at 521 Oak street, Lockport. The first shot struck the base of the skull, at the right side. The second bullet entered the right ear. This second shot is believed to have been fired as she lay on the kitchen floor with the muzzle of the rifle held close. There were powder marks on the ear.

As authorities reconstructed the incident the son then dragged the body into her bedroom, rolled her over so her face was down and covered head with a towel.

Then he is believed to have gone out in the hall, leaned over until his forehead was resting on the muzzle of a 16 gauge shotgun and pressed the trigger. Investigators found a fresh box of 16 gauge shells with one shell missing. That was the one that was in the gun.

Stains and fragments on the ceiling and lights indicated that the shot had to be fired in the manner just described, according to Coroner Willard G. Blood who was at the scene.

State Police Captain Robert Georganta was in charge of the investigation and men from the state crime laboratory at Springfield examined the premises and took possession of the guns for tests.

The guns belonged to the son. He was reported to have been fond of guns and owned several rifles and shotguns but no pistols. His liking for guns was a source of argument between he and his mother, according to those who knew the family.

The tragedy was discovered shortly after 12:30 Thursday afternoon. Authorities at Matteson elementary school where Mrs. Hillock taught the second grade, telephone state police headquarters at Joliet and asked them to check to determine if she were ill. Mrs. Hillock had not been at school Wednesday all day nor had she reported on Thursday and there had been no word from her.

Trooper Gary Curtis was dispatched to the house. He found it closed up. There were no lights on and he was unable to see anything when he attempted to look thru the windows. He did find a small window opening. The lad unlocked the kitchen door. The trooper entered and on seeing the blood in the kitchen investigated further and found the bodies.

Mrs. Hillock and her husband Samuel, had been living apart but not divorced. He has been living with a sister at Rockdale. Questioned by state police he said he had been at the house Sunday but had not seen his wife nor son since.

Since there were no lights on in the house it was believed the shooting took place Wednesday morning after daylight.

Besides the husband Mrs. Hillock is survived by another son, Thomas, a college student and several brothers and sisters. The Rev. George Moulthrop of Lockport officiated at the double funeral cremation followed at Mt. Hope.

Liquor Sellers Who Serve Minors Face Jail Terms

Saloonkeepers and liquor store operators who sell intoxicants to minors face jail sentence upon conviction and loss of license, State's Attorney Frank H. Masters warned.

The minors who purchase or accept liquor from liquor vendors or that convenient "stranger" whose name is always unknown, are scheduled for court appearances too and fines ranging from $25 to $100, the state's attorney declared.

Masters has sent letters to every saloonkeeper in the county--including incorporated as well as unincorporated area.

"In connection with the processing of matters involving juvenile matters," the state's attorney writes, "it has become apparent that incidents of the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors is increasing. Such juvenile offenders refuse to reveal the place of their purchases. . . We are well aware of the fact that the great majority of respectable tavernkeepers do not indulge in this practice," the state's attorney continued, "but a small number have sold liquor to minors and apparently because of this, others of late have indulged in this practice.

Mokena Youth Will Make Study Trip To Ecuador

Kenneth Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lorenz, of Mokena, and a graduate of Lincoln-Way high school, is to spend the summer on an anthropology field trip in Ecuador.

He is a junior at the University of Illinois and this trip to Ecuador is on a three-month scholarship given by Columbia university of New York. Kenneth is one of 24 students to receive a summer scholarship.

In preparation for the trip he is now taking a refresher course in Spanish as that is the language of the country. He will live with a rural family.

Huge Stores In Area Seen As Burden For Region's Roads

Opening of Korvette's discount and kindred stores at Matteson is now scheduled for around mid-April, according to usually reliable sources and this means that in early spring there will be a ballooning in traffic on U.S. 30 that will add greatly to its overburdened condition, it was pointed out.

Because of this communities along this highway are keeping their fingers crossed, so to speak, against any changes in the announced plans from the state highway department that work on transcontinental highway FAI-80 will be pushed in the area this year, with completion set for 1964-65.

"FAI-80 will not benefit us this year," a planning commission spokesman said, "but it will help us to bear with traffic difficulties if we know relief is not too far off."

Kovette, an eastern firm, is developing 27 acres at the intersection of U.S. 54 and 30, which have been annexed, it was reported, by Matteson.

One building, a two-story affair containing 220,000 square feet of floor space (that is the equivalent of six football fields) will handle general merchandise. Also being built are a patio and parking accommodations, a giant food store and a tire and auto accessories store.

According to reports the business is expected to gross some $28-million a year. Incidentally it was figured that this would put approximately $12,000 a month in the Matteson village treasury as a result of the half-cent sales tax the community would collect.

Of concern, however, to those concerned with the area traffic is the large number of cars and trucks such a business would attract.

The turnover of merchandise in such a business, it was pointed out, will necessitate a lot of trucking to keep inventories up.

This would be additional to the natural growth of traffic due to the general building up of the area, planners say, pointing out that the next few years will see a tremendous influx of population in the southwest suburbs.

This region, according to geographers and planners, will attract light industry as well as housing developments.

Other large stores, including Sears at Park Forest, are due to open this spring, adding additional burdens on U.S. 30 which also has to carry thru transcontinental traffic, Dan Ryan expressway also is shunting traffic to Rt. 30, it was pointed out.

Chicago Heights has banned parking on U. S. 30 in that city.

Will Elect 3 Trustees At Frankfort

Three trustees are to be elected in Frankfort in the regular municipal election April 16. Nominating petitions are available in the office of Village Clerk Walter Pfaff and the first day for filing was Monday, Jan. 21, but so far no one has indicated to Pfaff that he is a candidate.

This also applies to the three men whose terms expire this spring, John Topp, Clyde Reils and Wayne DePorto. DePorto was filling the unexpired term of Amos Ted Massey, who resigned the post. They have not applied for any petitions so far, Pfaff said.

Last day for filing is Feb. 25.

Another Row At Schmulh

Clarence Day, 77 year old principal of Schmulh school, is scheduled to appear before justice of the Peace Anthony Mackay at Joliet Saturday on a charge of disorderly conduct brought by the mother of a pupil. She claims that Day pushed or shoved her out of a room at the school. Day denies pushing but allegedly said he closed the door in her face. He claimed that she was disturbing the pupils. The trouble began Jan. 16. Her boy fell at school and cut his lip. Day telephoned the mother to tell her. She contends that Day delayed too long in calling her.

Robins Come Back To Home At Frankfort

With snow and near-zero temperatures prevailing a cheery note was sounded last week-end by Mrs. Harlan Eisenbrandt, of Frankfort.

Mrs. Eisenbrandt, who lives on U.S. 45, north of U.S. 30, reported that two of her regular boarders who were with her last year--a pair of robins--are back again.

She says she knows they are the same because they are quite tame and the first thing they did was look for the peanut butter she spreads on the bark of certain trees and hunt up the suet supply she fastens to some of the branches.

The Eisenbrandts have fed birds for many years but she notices that the number and variety have been decreasing annually.

Last year, Mrs. Eisenbrandt said, she noticed quite a number of dead birds lying on the ground with no mark or evidence as to cause of death.

There is a lot of spraying done in the area with chemicals that kill insects and weeds. State highway crews spray along the roads to kill weeds and experiments have shown, it is reported, that the poisons that kills the weeds and the insects are deadly to the birds and other animals. And such poisons are also charged with contributing to the ills of man.

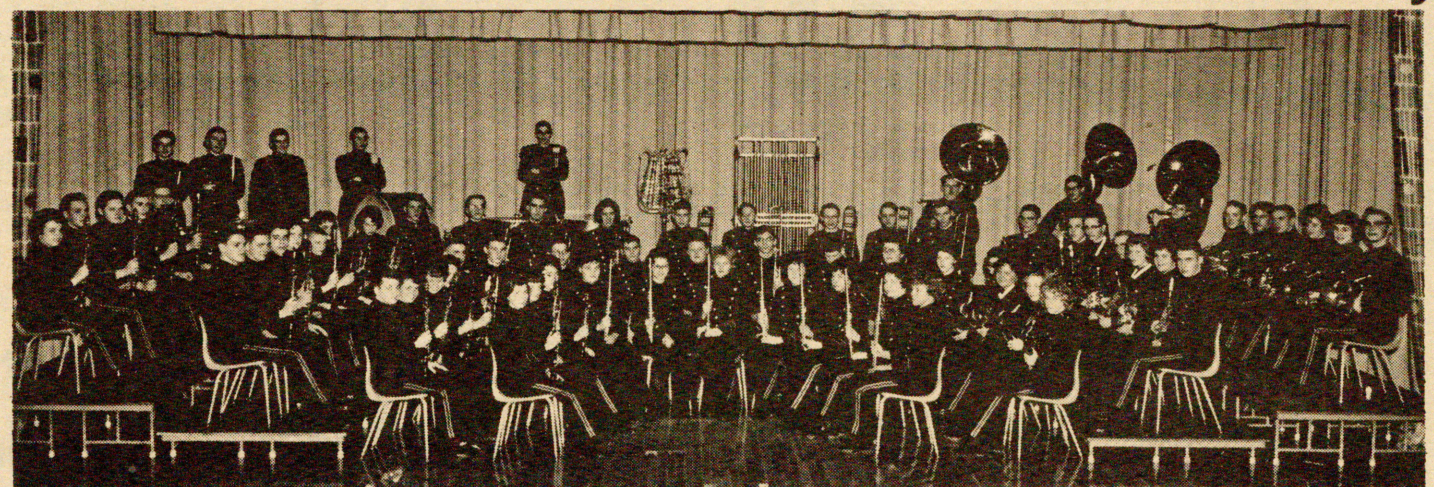

Mrs. Eisenbrandt once raised a baby robin, she said, that had lost a leg and when he grew up he remained as a household pet. His favorite breakfast dish was a sweetroll.

Mokenan To Study British Plant Needs

R. Gordon Holleman, of Mokena, who is with the chemical division of Swift & Co., is going to England next month to make a survey of industrial needs. It is possible that Swift & Co., which has become quite diversified in late years, may enter the manufacturing field in Britain.

Packing firms, like most industries, have branched out in the past decade so that when some lines are meeting with sales resistance others are setting records in claiming the public's fancy, it was pointed out.

Holleman came to the area when he took charge of Swift's research farm near Frankfort at the beginning. He was in charge there for six years. Now he is in the chemical division with offices at Chicago.

The Lincoln-Way High school band, under the direction of Robert Taylor and his assistant Larry Cullison, will present its annual "Winter" concert at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday evening Jan. 29th, in the high school auditorium.

The program promises a variety of entertainment from swing to the classics. The first part will feature the full concert band, and will include Houston Bright's "Prelude and Fugue in F minor", "Fingal's Cave" overture by Felix Mendelssohn, and Herman Bellstedt's "Napoli", a cornet solo played by Jeff Urban.

Larry Cullison will present the Lincoln-Way stage band next with "Jamaican Rumba", "I'll Remember April", and "Artistry Jumps". This group will compete in the stage band contest at Oak Lawn high school in February.

The concert band will conclude the program with several selections including Richard Wagner's "Elsa's Procession To The Cathedral" from his opera "Lohengrin", a musical satire for band and narrator entitled "A Concert Digest", and "Skip To My Flute" featuring the entire flute section. Student directors Susan Webb and Bill Alexander will also appear on the program.

Tickets are available from any band member, and will be sold at the door. Proceeds will be divided between the band and the Lincoln-Way FM fund.

Amos Alonzo Stagg -- Never Let The Boys Down

The Sandburg high school board of education has named the new high school planned for Dist. 230 after Amos Alonzo Stagg, famed gridiron coach. A profile of Mr. Stagg released by the school follows.)

When Amos Alonzo Stagg was a 96-year-old coach at Stockton, Calif., junior college, it was his custom to mow his grass with a hand mower.

A neighbor advised him one day that several of the neighborhood boys had been playing on the lawn, tearing up the sod. "You'll never raise grass that way," the neighbor told Stagg. "Sir," said the old man, "I'm not raising grass. I'm raising boys."

Stagg has been raising boys for 70 years and it was in the hope that his life would serve as an example to its students that School Dist. 230 named its new Palos Hills, Ill., high school in his honor.

Stagg waited 98 years before he admitted that old age had caught him, and although he, more than any other man, has shaped the development of collegiate football, he is remembered first as a man of unflinching idealism.

Born in a humble environment on Aug. 16, 1862, in West Orange, N.J., he was introduced early to poverty, principle, and hard work. His father was a shoemaker and general laborer, and Stagg had to work his way thru Orange high school. He survived a year at Phillips-Exeter Academy in a dingy garret room, without heat (or underwear), on a diet chiefly of soda crackers.

At Yale in 1884, he continued his Spartan life and starvation diet while working at odd jobs around the campus. (Stagg has always avoided debt.)

He chose, however, to reject the first of several opportunities for affluence -- an offer to become a professional baseball player ("There was a bar in every park and the whole tone of the game was smelly," he explained.)

Instead he pitched Yale to five successive Big Three championships, became captain of the team in 1888, and set a record of 20 strikeouts in a game against Princeton.

But it was football that was to dominate Stagg's life, and after brief trials in 1884 and 1885, he began to play the game seriously in 1889, the year he became a member of the first All-American team.

It was also the year in which he made the first of the innovations that would earn him the title of the patriarch of football: a tackling dummy for himself and his teammates.

He decided in 1890 that his inability (temporary) to speak in public had doomed his chances for the ministry and left Yale to become a teacher, player, and coach at the International YMCA Training School at Springfield, Mass.

Two years later, he became the first director of athletics at the University of Chicago. In accepting William Rainey Harper's offer of $2,500 a year, he told the university's president: "After much thought and prayer I have decided that my life can best be used by my Master's service in the position which you have offered."

Thus began a 30-year career at Chicago which was to result in the greatest days of glory for the university's athletic program and produce alumni imbued with the moral principles which Stagg himself has always practiced. It was not long before his honesty and fairness were recognized. He was asked to referee two games in 1892 and 1893 in which his own team played.

Neither was it long before Stagg was regarded as an old man. Before he turned 40, his players had dubbed him "Old Man", reportedly in recognition of his maturity and judgment. Stagg has said that the nickname gave him "satisfaction."

Stagg's success as a coach is legendary. He compiled a record of 229-108-27, won the Western Conference (Big Ten) championship seven times, introduced the "ends back," "double delayed pass," and "fake kickoff" plays; and pioneered the forward pass, the T-formation, and the man in motion.

His 1905 team, his most famous, won the Helms Foundation National Championship by defeating Fielding Yost's point-a-minute University of Michigan team, 2-0, in its final game. During the season, the team scored 245 points, allowed five to be scored against it.

And while he was building champions, he was "raising boys." Stagg never smoked or drank, and H.C. Fritz Crisler, now director of athletics at the University of Michigan, once put out a cigarette in the palm of his hand so that Stagg would not see him smoking.

"I promised God as a youth to work with young men, to make them understand themselves and the powers they possess," he said. "I have never let them down on that promise."

Stagg never swore, but his favorite epithet, "jackass," was enough to crush the youth to whom it was directed (the term was used by Stagg in three degrees, depending on the offense: jackass, double jackass, and in extreme anger, triple jackass.) Many men who played under him at Chicago proudly claim membership in the Jackass Club.

Kyle Anderson, who was a halfback on Stagg's 1925-27 teams returned as an assistant coach and is still a member of the University of Chicago athletic staff, says "the Old Man never preached to us and we never had formal prayers at games. Stagg's religion for us was only the example of good Christian living and practice."

When UCLA coach Red Sanders took his place at the rostrum at Stagg's 94th birthday just after he had been caught in a recruiting violation, he said: "Jesse James will now break bread with a saint."

In 1933 it appeared that Stagg's coaching career had ended. The University of Chicago retired him just before he reached 71. But, claiming he had too much good coaching left in him, he went to the College of the Pacific, where, 10 years later, he proved his point by outpacing Notre Dame's Frank Leahy as Coach of the Year. He was 81 years old then. When he was 85, he went to Susquehanna to assist his son Alonzo Jr. on a 10-year contract.

"You're a little old to sign a 10-year contract," Crisler kidded him. "I'm looking forward to renewing it," the Old Man answered.

Stagg's rejection of a $4,200

Con Men Try Book Racket In Social Security Field

Harold Whiteside, social security district manager in Joliet, today warned the public to be wary of advertisements promoting the sale of books that promise to tell how to "get around" certain provisions in the social security law.

Some of these advertising materials, Whiteside noted, say that books, offered for sale at $1.98, $2.99, $3.99 and sometimes $5, will also show "How to get twice as much social security," or even, "How you can get social security for doing absolutely nothing."

"Actually," Whiteside said, "these books cannot tell the reader anything basic about the social security law that he would not find in the free booklets and leaflets available at the Joliet Social Security District Office."

In fact, if advice contained in some of the books were followed it might result in extensive investigation by this office and thus delay social security payments rather than expedite their issuance. Further, following some of the advice might place the individual in a worse rather than a better financial position.

"If a resident of the Joliet area has any questions about

Pills or food, which will you have?

Are you being fooled by the food quacks?

Dairy Council of the Tri-Cities, in the interests of public information, recently compiled information dealing with the dangers to health from "rackets" in foods.

The American food supply is unsurpassed in volume, variety and nutritional value, according to nutritionists. The housewife who buys from all departments of a modern food store can easily supply a balanced diet for her family, they declared.

In fact, Americans have to go out of their way, nutritionally speaking, to avoid being properly nourished.

Why, then do 10 million Americans spend $500 million a year on quack food substitutes, dollars they could spend for the best food in the world, right in their own grocery stores, the his social security benefits," the social security district manager said. "I suggest he come in and talk to someone in our office. We may not be able to tell you how to 'earn a million dollars a year - while collecting social security' (as the promoters of some sensationally advertised books suggest they can do). But the people in our office will be glad to give you full and realistic information tailored to your particular situation."

The social security district office in Joliet is located at 225 North Chicago Street.

Dairy Council Plugs Grub Over Diet Pills

Dairy Council asks and then answers that one reason for this strange behavior is the food racketeers, successors of the medicine man of earlier days. They wandered from town to town selling river water and artificial coloring to cure all sorts of ills.

Today's housewife laughs at the thought of the old-fashioned medicine man only to find that he's still around in a new garb and with a new vocabulary, the Council warns.

He's the man who rings the doorbell, lectures or approaches his public by mail with offers of food materials to help "that tired feeling" or correct "sub-clinical deficiencies," say the defenders of food.

He's sometimes hard to spot but the council will attempt to show how to do just that.

Carl Sandburg To Publish Latest Poems On Birthday

Carl Sandburg will mark his 85th birthday on Sunday, January 6, with the publication of a new book - "Honey and Salt" - 77 new poems celebrating, with his customary vigor and affirmation, the themes he has become famous for during half a century of creativity. Both Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois and Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina have declared January 6, 1963 as Carl Sandburg Day.

"Honey and Salt" will be the 35th book that Harcourt, Brace & World has published by Carl Sandburg since he first appeared on their list with The Chicago Race Riots, in 1919, the year the company was founded.

Since then, Mr. Sandburg has twice won the Pulitzer Prize - in 1940 for History with the publication of Abraham Lincoln: The War Years and in 1951 for poetry with the publication of his Complete Poems.

Mr. Sandburg has won extraordinary recognition for his contributions as a biographer, journalist, historian, poet, novelist, and musician. The home of his Swedish immigrant parents in Galesburg, Illinois, where he was born, was dedicated as a literary shrine in 1946. A dozen elementary, junior and senior high schools across the country bear his name. Among the colleges and universities here and abroad that have bestowed honorary degrees upon him are Harvard, Yale, New York University, Dartmouth, and his alma mater, Lombard college. In 1952 the American Academy of Arts and Letters awarded him their Gold Medal for History and Biography. The Poetry Society of America awarded him its gold medal for distinguished achievement in 1953.

This is how FAI-80 the transcontinental east-west highway being built by the federal government with some aid from the state and local communities -- will pass thru the city of Joliet.

There are some cloverleaf interchanges in the city but whether the route will be utilized by local traffic is something only time will determine, it was said. Because the federal government is putting up 90 per cent of the cost of the expressway it is naturally the boss in setting up speed and other regulations, according to those who have had experience along this line.

It was pointed out that if expressways are built to move traffic swiftly speed limits must necessarily remain high even thru cities since there is no cross movement to reckon with.

The highway will cross over the Illinois waterway at Joliet over a high level, fixed bridge. All the other bridges over the waterway there are lift spans.

235 At Dinner Honoring Mokenas Leading Citizens

Some 235 persons braved the snow and cold last Saturday night to attend the Mokena Chamber of Commerce Awards night program.

Six received plaques in appreciation of their community service.

The plaques were awarded by Everett Cooper, Mokena banker, following a dinner served by the Lincoln-Way Band Parents at the high school.

Charles Swanberg, mayor of Mokena, was in charge of the program. Francis Lorenz, former state treasurer was to have been the speaker but he became snowbound, and the committee called in a Wicklein, Will county farm advisor, as a pinch hitter.

Two of the recipients of the awards were women, Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, who retired last June as superintendent of the Mokena grade schools, and Mrs. Margaret Semmler, who was actively associated with the printing and publishing business bearing the family name for some 40 years.

The men honored included Dr. Ernest McMahan, a practicing physician in Mokena 40 years; the Rev. William Riemann, now of Chicago Heights who was pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ for 17 years after 30 years in other pastorate; Arthur Orland active in Boy Scout work in the area 22 years, and Robert Munch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Munch, Mokena's only Eagle Scout and an ardent worker in the Scout movement.

Each of those honored voiced their appreciation of the honor paid them.

Anthony Dina, president of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce spoke briefly, and expressed the chamber's appreciation of the public support given the affair.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Theodore Wimmeler, pastor of St. John's church, and the Rev. Robert Watson, pastor of the Mokena Methodist church pronounced the benediction.

Schmuhl School Annexation Up Tuesday Night

There will be a meeting Tuesday night in the supervisors' room at the courthouse in Joliet when the board of county school trustees will consider a petition asking that Schmuhl school district, No. 121, be annexed to the New Lenox grade school district, No. 122.

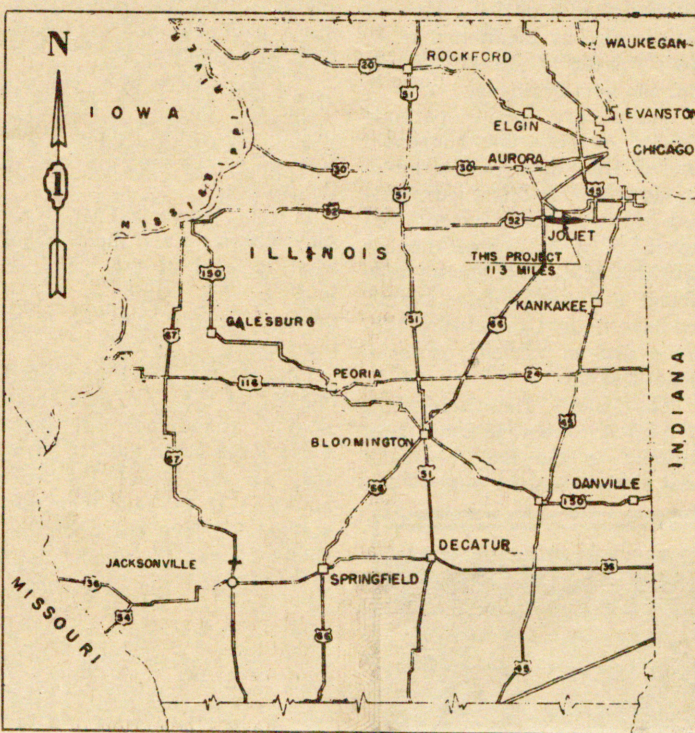

There has been considerable argument on this question in the district and Tuesday night's hearing is expected to bring on quite a forensic display, it was predicted.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

According to Co. Supt. Verne Crackel the petition asking for annexation carries 255 signers. There are 324 legal voters in the district, the petitioners claim, basing there figures on a census they conducted when the petition was prepared. The petition needed 216 signatures.

Persons for or against the merger of the two districts may appear at the meeting Jan. 29 and voice their opinions, it was stated.

Schmuhl school now has an enrollment of approximately 100.

Will County 4-H's To Hold Rally Monday

Many Will County 4-H members will be taking part in the annual 4-H Rally, Monday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m. The rally is a county 4-H recreation event held for 4-H's and prospective members.

Rally co-chairmen Phillip Francis, Wilmington, and Mary Ann Sheridan, Elwood, announced rally plans at a recent meeting. Two locations will be scenes of this year's rally. Non-high school members will meet at Fred A. Francis 4-H Field, Oakview grade school will be the location for the high school 4-H members' rally program. Oakview school is in New Lenox on North Cedar Road between Route 30 and Francis road. Francis Field is one-half mile east of New Lenox on Francis Road.

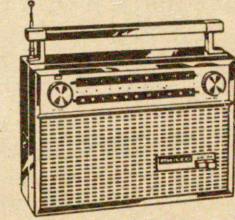

For the non-high school group a special rally activity is planned. 4-H's are asked to have several group games for the rally. Members will present and lead the games in their selected groups. At the end of a time period, each 4-H's leading the most games will receive a prize.

The Will County 4-H Federation sponsors the event.

Federation president Martin Steiber, Crete, invites all 4-H members, leaders and parents to have fun at the rally. 4-H members are also encouraged to bring along friends interested in joining 4-H.

The 4-H program is the responsibility of the Will County farm and home adviser and their assistants. As representatives of the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois, the county extension staff conducts an informal educational program within Will county. 4-H is part of this educational program, it was explained.

Blame Fatal Heart Attack On Outbreak Of Fire

A heart attack, believed to have resulted from possible panic and excitement when his home caught on fire Jan. 16, was fatal to John J. Sullivan, 70, of 1205 N. Cooper st., New Lenox township.

When police and firemen arrived at the home in response to an alarm, Mr. Sullivan was found lying in the snow alongside his car in the backyard. An inhalator crew gave him oxygen and he was rushed to Silver Cross hospital in the Baskerville ambulance only to be pronounced dead on arrival.

An autopsy revealed that he died of a coronary thrombosis. There were no burns on his body nor had he evidence of smoke.

His wife, Mrs. Irene Warren Sullivan, 69, was removed from the house by New Lenox firemen. According to Fire Chief Otto Bormet firemen didn't know anyone was in the house. Then one of the firemen glimpsed Mrs. Sullivan thru a porch window and her rescue followed.

Mrs. Sullivan is in ill health. When she discovered the house was on fire she got as far as the closed-in front porch and closed the door leading into the house but was unable to proceed further.

It was said that Mr. Sullivan was thawing a frozen water pipe with a blow torch. There was a shed at the rear of the house that was burning and he is said to have run to the car to get it out of danger when he collapsed. The fire did not reach the automobile. The flames spread to the interior of the small frame house, however, and the interior was badly damaged.

Mr. Sullivan was a retired railroadman. He was employed on the E. J. & E. railway from 1916 until 1958 when he retired. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. The family moved to New Lenox in 1932.

Besides his wife Mr. Sullivan is survived by two daughters, Rita, Mrs. Richard James, and Loretta, Mrs. LeRoy Sanfel, of Joliet; one son, John, of New Lenox; one brother, Lawrence, and three sisters, Miss Catherine, Mary, Mrs. John Sheffler and Mrs. Hannah Weishaar, all of Joliet; also five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway and Roberts street at 9 o'clock last Saturday morning, Jan. 19, to St. Jude's church at 9:30. Interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Joliet.

Hold Funeral For Recluse

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel Lloyd Moore, 83, who died Jan. 13 as a result of exposure and malnutrition, were conducted at the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway and Robert St., New Lenox on Thursday, Jan. 17.

Burial was in Ridgewood cemetery where her husband, Samuel E. Moore, a former railroadman, is buried. The Rev. Alfred H. Hunter, of New Lenox, officiated.

Mrs. Moore lived alone in a house at 210 South Prairie road. The house was filled with odds and ends but Mrs. Moore kept what money she had in the bank and a safety deposit box. She had little cash, it was reported, but she owned the property where she lived.

Mrs. Moore was found gravely ill on Saturday morning, Jan. 12, lying on the floor in her home. The discovery of her plight was brought about when a milkman noting that she had not taken in the milk he had left several days

Never Something For Nothing

We note by the dispatches from Washington that the U.S. Senate's special committee dealing with senior citizens is giving some attention to the quacks, con men and hornswogglers in general who make a tidy living by working on the credulity of a large segment of the population. And they don't confine their depredations to the elderly.

There are already a lot of laws on the books of the federal government and the several states which are calculated to protect the public against various kinds of flimflam. And no doubt the special senate committee will recommend some more. But it is difficult to find a means to protect people against human nature, which is another way of saying against themselves.

In the course of hearings by the senate committee the members have found that a lot of the Mojave desert in Arizona has been sold as home or ranch sites and while the buyers now own a lot of sand it would be difficult for them to find a market for same because of the length of haul.

These sandlot subdivisions have fancy names for the streets and boulevards that would be fine if there were any. The sellers general advertise that all the utilities are in, the implication being they are in the subdivision. In reality the nearest utilities are miles off, say in Phoenix, or Chicago or New York.

Similar land deals may be made in the arid sections of Nevada and California but the promoters don't confine themselves to dry lots. In other area they sell land that is under water.

Some dance studios, the committee has dug up, have sold lifetime dancing lessons for as high as $35,000, promising the victims attractive dance partners and television appearances.

There are also salesmen who make a handsome living selling funerals that are paid for in advance to non-existing funeral directors.

There are many racketeers today preying on householders, selling them remodelling jobs, new roofs, new siding, garages and appliances.

Persons in the market for real estate, building a home, remodeling a home or buying appliances for same are entreated to deal only with reputable people or firms.

Persons who plan to buy or build in the south or the southwest or the west coast in preparation for retirement are advised to go there in person. They can find out thru a chamber of commerce or a bank who the legitimate dealers are and they can also inspect the property in person. The few hundred dollars such a trip may cost is good insurance.

One hardy perennial among the crooked salemen is known as the "Williamson gang." At least once a year we get flyers from the National Better Business Bureau warning that the "Williamsons" are on the loose. According to the Better Business Bureau the federal government has been trying to break up the Williamson outfit for the past 50 years.

The Williamsons, the head of the Better Business Bureau told the senate committee, are peddlers who sell bolts of cloth and furs by pretending to be smugglers and Canadian fur trappers.

The salesmen are artists in convincing customers that the shoddy goods they sell them at high prices are treasures and make their pitch in accent, that lead their victims to believe they are foreigners who have just arrived from a foreign country.

There isn't very much the law can do to help anyone who will listen to the siren son of grifters and grafters. But there would be a lot less of such shenanigans if people would only remember that no one is going to give them something for nothing.

When someone attempts it, shut the door or run like blazes and call the police. And if the offer comes by mail, throw it in the trash can.

About the only opportunity one will miss following this advise the one where he can make a chump of himself.

The sports writers and columnists have been having a field day with the Chicago Cubs of late, directing thousands of words of criticism toward Philip K. Wrigley, who owns the outfit lock, stock and barrel. But nowhere, at least this corner has not seen it, has any credit been given him for the masterful publicity job, he has accomplished.

True, Mr. Wrigley has not put any midget on the team's roster nor installed an exploding merry-go-round for a score board. He lacks the color and verve of Veeck as in Wreck and Frank Lane but for a man whose public image is a trifle on the cold, stuffy side he has done quite well.

Mr. Wrigley has been charged at various times with running the Cubs like he does his gum business. He is, the boss Cub answers, pointing out that the gum business has been doing pretty well.

One must agree with that. The gum business has been doing well, much better than the baseball team. Attendance at the Cub games has dropped off but the gum business is reported to be picking up.

The name Wrigley is synonymous with chewing gum so anytime it is mentioned it is, in a matter of speaking, an ad for the gum business.

There are many persons whose names are household words that have paid a lot of money to bring this about. Hiring press agents is not confined to those in the entertainment world. Captains of industry have found the device quite useful, as have figures in politics, science and in various professional fields.

The Late J. Hamilton Lewis a United States senator from Illinois in the late nineteenth and early twenties once held a has made Page 1 and the editorial pages of the metropolitan dailies from one end of the country to the other in the midst of the Congo trouble, the Cuban trouble, the Berlin trouble, the Viet Nam trouble and President Kennedy's troubles over deficits, proposed tax cuts, and proposed cuts in spending taxpayers' money, and that takes a lot of doing.

It's really fantastic to grab all these headlines when one stops to realize that this man probably doesn't even have a nodding acquaintance with Liz Taylor, has never been showed into a Kennedy swimming pool or had his picture taken with Mona Lisa. But Mr. Wrigley has done it and in a nice, easy dignified way.

Whether the Cubs win, lose or draw the public will be talking about Wrigley and Wrigley-- ladies and gentlemen -- means chewing gum.

Look at the late Henry Ford founder of the Ford auto company. Remember all those jokes about the Tin Lizzies, as the Model T's were known? It is said that they started for free and when they showed signs of running down it is alleged that someone-- we can't say that it was Mr. Ford -- hired gag writers to keep the stories going. The Ford motor company got millions of dollars for free advertising as a result, and one must admit that is a lot of mileage out of a Tin Lizzy. The jokes even carried over into the Model A era and it is possible a revival will start anytime.

And take a look at Mr. Wrigley. He's made news for a long time, a very long time for a man with a losing ballclub. There have been a lot of losing ballclubs in the majors but outside of their home towns few people and outside of the Phillies the owners never made money on them pay much attention to them, Mr. Wrigley, however, has made the Cubs known nationally. Look at the time he paid $185,000 for Dizzy Dean when the great one was at the end of his string and his arm was gone. People still talk about that.

Then with everyone else, including Class D high schools installing lights for night athletic events, Mr. Wrigley refuses to illuminate his ball diamond. Beautiful Wrigley field shows to better advantage in the daylight, he contends. Whatever the reason there are still no lights but there is a lot of talk about Wrigley field and Wrigley field means chewing gum.

Perhaps Mr. Wrigley's crowning achievement, besides having a chronic losing team, was his ukase doring away with a manager. Ballteams have always had managers until Mr. Wrigley came along with his phalanx of rotating coaches. This year it was beginning to look like maybe he would settle on a head coach which for all practical purposes would be a manager under another title.

So what does he do in the middle of winter when the sports fans are either recapitulating the football results in the midst of hot arguments over basketball, but come up with his appointment of an athletic director, who is supposed to keep the coaches, the players and the front office performing in their respective tasks. This is the first time any professional sports team has had an athletic director.

His choice, Air Force Col. Robert V. Whitlow, may find the chewing gum with halls different than West Point and the Air Force Academy but then our service schools boast that they train their men to meet any emergency so one may be sure that he will be able to cope with the situation.

This last bid of Mr. Wrigley for attention is a lalpalooza. He has not only held possession of the sports pages but

WANTS ANSWERS

Dear Sir:

It is time for someone else to file a nominating petition for a highway commissioner in Frankfort Township. How about you or you or you who are reading this article? You'd do very well, I'm sure. Do file before February 11th, though. Walter Yunker is seeking another term. Why? Hasn't this politician been in long enough? How many years? Is he doing the job that he was elected to do? Is everyone satisfied with him?

How about that 88th Avenue on which reside one family with six children? No--they have no extra $400.00 to pay to have gravel put on that road which links Route 30 and Sauk Trail. Mud, water, sickness, then no school for six lovely small children, future citizens and voters, after rainy or thawing days!

Imagine yourselves as parents and breadwinners, sliding and getting stuck on this muddy road--walking or driving to work. Yes, it took $10.00 to pull their car out of the ditch. $10.00? Absolutely! And do you know that that $10.00 meant a lot to this 88th Avenue muddy road family? Not to you or you or me! But to them -- it did!

How about it, Mr. Yunker, if you want another term, how about 88th Avenue being gravelled? Neglect my road or another road that is in pretty good shape! We'll forgive you! But gravel 88th Avenue! Many people will thank you, also, as it is a short cut from route 30 to Sauk Trail. How about it?

"PROGRESSIVE EDUCATION"

Dear Sir:
So called "Progressive Education" is one of the weapons being used by the internationalist, One-World planners. The dogma of this group of "mind twisters" is to omit the teaching of the three Rs, thereby dwarfing the intellect of the citizens of tomorrow. Also deleted, is the teaching of simple loyalty and patriotism for the United States and it's flag.

How can we train young men to defend our country who are so ill equipped because fundamental subjects were not taught in their schools? In order to become useful citizens, whether in civilian or military cloth-

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

As Fortune magazine puts it, "thanks to the rising efficiency of U.S. production, the nation is able to devote a smaller and smaller percentage of its resources to goods such as cars and appliances and clothes, and more left for hospitals, schools, dry cleaners, insurance, telephones, churches, banking and brokerage fees, plane fares, auto repairs, morticians, parimutual betting and so on".

This magazine article states that in 1962, consumers devoted 41.2 cents of every expended dollar as against 31.1 cents in 1947.

Analysts have been pointing to this substantial expenditure on services as steady and dependable and with likelihood of increasing its percentage of total expenditures. Higher incomes and shorter hours have given the leisure to develop greater interest in educational desires, reading, sporting activities, and greater interest in the homes and conditions under which the family lives, etc.

The white-collar workers are growing faster than the number of blue-collar workers. In order to cut the constantly expanding non-production costs, industry has been buying all kinds of labor and time saving office equipment. The computers are starting to serve smaller industries thru special centers which offer expert computer service on all manner of industry problems.

Life insurance firms have had considerable benefit from this rapid increase in shorter hours, higher incomes, and the obvious need for increases in educational levels.

The insurance firms have shown the need for protection for family way of life against loss of the principal contributor to family income. Insurance sales have been showing a steady increase and several of the top investment advisory services list life insurance firms as a desirable investment vehicle both for stability of income and growth.

There have been quite a number of new life insurance firms founded in the last few years. As in any other field of rapid growth, there have been some questionable firms, but our interest here is not in these questionable situations.

Group insurance has been particularly rapid in growth rate. Some of the insurance firms which emphasize the group insurance, are especially well connected with sources thru which they are able to secure this type of business in volume.

It was pointed out that the item in insurance company statement labelled "reserve against loss" is an expense item, but only in that it is a charge against the surplus account, but is a "cash flow" item in that it is invested and an earning item. The funds had been allocated but not paid out.

Insurance men have a "rule of thumb" in calculating real earnings each year. To the stated official earnings, they add the following valuations per $1000 of insurance added in the previous 12 months: $15.00 per $1,000 of ordinary life; $5.00 per $1,000 of term life; $2.50 per $1,000 of group insurance. Analysts going over insurance earnings reports, adjust as to values on the basis of insurance added during previous 12 month period due to proportionately large acquisition costs in the first year and amortize this cost over following years.

Insurance stocks, as a group, have been lucrative.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL, ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

While we haven't had much snow this winter, we have had some severe cold. Cold without snow cover to tender plants, particularly newly planted ones, can be expected to suffer some damage. It isn't the cold itself that causes most damage, but the alternate cold and warm caused by bright sun during the day and the cold at night. The result is heaving of plants out of the ground and cracking of bark on young trees. Evergreen shrubs suffer winter damage because they give off water when the sun shines on them. If the soil is frozen solid, the moisture lost by the plant cannot be replaced and branches begin to die back.

In spite of the damage and discomfort the cold can cause, there are some beneficial effects of cold. Insects which rely on snow cover to help them survive the winter will be killed by the severe cold if there is no snow. Even more beneficial to the new homeowner who has compact soil conditions resulting from grading and filling during building is the natural soil loosening process. The same freezing and thawing which heaves up plants is mother nature's way of breaking up even the most compact soil. Thus, some good can come from even the worst winter weather.

On your "things to do this week-end list" take a tour around your yard to see how your plants are doing. Check newly planted trees and shrubs to make sure they haven't blown loose. Be sure your trees are not suffering from sunscald which cracks the bark. If you find this, wrap the tree. Prune off any branches broken by recent winds.

Firm perennials heaved out by the weather and apply a mulch of salt hay or ground corn cobs. Scatter some suet, peanut butter and seed for your bird neighbors. They will repay you this summer catching bugs and may even take up residence in your garden.

Then as you warm your cold feet just think, in eight weeks it will be spring.

Obviously it pays to keep good farm records and to study your business. Farming without knowing the economic facts, each should be able to read, think and solve simple problems. More than one million or 25% of the draftees, tested since the Korean War, flunked the simple qualification tests. Last June the score went to 56% for that month.

Some educators may defend their system by saying that these failures were deliberate. In this case, then it may be considered that the draftees lacked the feeling of obligation. Any man, who loves his country, should look upon military service as a duty rather than something akin to imprisonment or punishment. How do the educators explain away this absence of "Patriotism"?

A few educators have stated in so many words, that "progressive" education is not intended to perpetuate our free representative republic. According to it's supporters, it is intended to socialize these United States and prepare our youth to accept slavery in a one-world government which, for all practical purposes, will wipe out the United States as a sovereign State.

Two Boys Wreck Waiting Room At Rock Is. Depot

Two boys, 13 and 16 years of age were apprehended last Monday by Sheriff's Investigator John Shelley, for vandalizing the depot on Sunday afternoon.

The youths were tranced thru some scribbles left on the wall of the depot. They were found at the Mokena public school, and admitted smashing five chairs and shattering the glass in seven windows. They were in the station in mid-afternoon.

The young men told Shelly that they were waiting at the station for a Joliet bound train to go to the show when the idea of breaking into the station occurred to them.

Both boys were turned over to the Mokena police for prosecution.

Direct Distance Dialing As Fast As It Is Easy

Dialing long distance calls direct is almost as easy as dialing a local call, according to Mrs. Fran Hinehline, Illinois Bell dial service chief. She is responsible for customer instruction on direct distance dialing service which is coming to Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox Sunday, Feb. 17.

For faster long distance calling, she explained, the United States and Canada have been divided into large geographical telephone numbering plan areas. Each area is identified by a three-figure area code.

Illinois is divided into five such numbering plan areas. Frankfort and New Lenox are located in Area 815. This area includes such communities as Rockford, Ottawa, LaSalle, Morris, Dwight, and Kankakee. Mokena is being transferred to the 312 area, which includes Chicago, its suburbs and communities near Mokena such as Orland Park and Tinley Park. "To make any long distance direct dialed call the customer must dial the figure '1' first," said Mrs. Hinehline. "This connects the call with the DDD equipment."

"After dialing '1', when calling a place outside his area, the customer then dials the proper area code followed by the seven-figure telephone number. To call a telephone within his area--beyond his toll free calling area--the customer dial '1', then just the seven-figure telephone number."

Mrs. Hinehline pointed out examples. To call New York, the customer will dial "1", then area code 212, and then the number. Frankfort and New Lenox customers calling Rockford (in area 815), will dial "1", then just the telephone number. Mokena customers calling Chicago (Area 312), will dial "1", then the seven-figure number.

"Even as you're dialing," Mrs. Hinehline explained, "automatic equipment begins to record the details of the call for billing purposes. A special operator will come on the line to obtain your number while the call is being completed."

"Actually, the area code, plus the seven-figure telephone number, gives every telephone customer in the country an unduplicated nationwide number," she pointed out. "The area code tells the telephone system what part of the country you live in. (You never dial your own area code--it's used by people calling you from another area.) The next three figures designate your particular telephone office and the last four pinpoint your particular phone."

The new seven-figure style numbers, also due to take effect Feb. 17 for the three communities, will be formed in New Lenox by converting the "HU" to "48". Frankfort customers will add the prefix "469" to their present four-figure numbers, and Mokena customers will add "479" to theirs. Customers will dial the complete seven-figure number for local calls.

"Direct Distance Dialing is for station-to-station calls only," said Mrs. Hinehline. "Person-to-person, collect, credit card and other special types of long distance calls will continue to be handled by the long distance operator."

Family Life Circle Will Meet Tonight

KATHARINE HEISNER
Frankfort 5187

The Family Life Circle of the Green Garden Methodist church are having their next meeting tonight (Jan. 24) at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence Johnson. Co-hostesses is Mrs. Chester Steinberg. The devotional chairman is Miss Esther Bettenhausen, and Mrs. Everett Heatherwick will give the discussion.

The Methodist youth fellowship of the Green Garden Methodist church have planned to have a toboggan party at Palos Park (if there is snow) on Saturday evening, Jan. 26. The youth are to meet at the church at 6:30 p.m.

The Snip N' Snack 4-H club met on Dec. 28 in the Ralph Dralle home. Forty members and three guests were present for the annual Christmas party. Games were played before the meeting. Plans were made for a record hop in which two boys' 4-H clubs would also participate. A donation of $150.00 was directed to go to the Fred A. Francis 4-H Field. Plans were also made to have a Pot Luck dinner and family night on Mar. 3.

The games were led by Judy Dralle, Dawn Morrison, Carolee Krapf, Beverly Thompson, Carolyn Patz, and Melody Eason.

Christmas Carols were lead by Sherri Dralle.

4-H Federation Will Meet At Peotone Feb. 5

The Will County 4-H Federation will meet at Peotone Tuesday, Feb. 5, 1963.

At the January federation meeting, the county 4-H group approved a contribution for a wild game sanctuary. Federal Budget Makes Pickers Of War Spenders

Federal expenditures under the new Federal budget just submitted to Congress by President Kennedy will exceed the total spent in the peak year of World War II, and set a new all-time high, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois pointed out today.

The new budget for the fiscal year 1964 which begins next July 1, forecasts net budget receipts in that fiscal year will total $86.9 billion. Federal expenditures (exclusive of trust fund expenditures for highway, social security, and other programs) will total an estimated $98.8 billion, (Illinois' share will be almost $7 billion leaving a deficit of $11.9 billion.

"Defense, international, and space programs -- sometimes classified as 'protection' programs -- will require an estimated expenditure of $62.3 billion," Maurice W. Scott, executive secretary of the statewide taxpayer organization noted. "Illinois' share of the expenditures for 'protection' purposes is estimated at $4.4 billion."

Expenditures for the so-called 'civil benefit' programs of the federal government, for interest, and for general government activities total an estimated $36.5 billion in the new budget, of which Illinois' share would be $2.5 billion.

When the expenditures of federal programs financed by trust funds, and thus excluded from administrative budget totals, are added in, the total gross expenditures of the Federal Government in the fiscal year (1964) which starts next July 1 amounts to a staggering $127.2 billion.

The Federation also expressed "alarm" over the mounting federal debt and the burdens placed upon the taxpayers for servicing the public debt, noting that the new federal budget for the fiscal year (1964) beginning next July 1 estimates the public debts will total $303.7 billion on June 30 of this year, and $315.8 billion at the end of the next fiscal year.

Expenditures for interest on this huge debt will be an estimated $10 billion in the next (1964) fiscal year. Illinois' share of these interest costs will be an estimated $704 million. Interest expenditures are the second largest single item in the federal budget, being exceeded only by defense expenditures.

Too often citizens assume that nothing can be done about federal spending, because of our defense and international requirements in today's world. In recent years, however, domestic-civilian spending actually has increased more than have our defense and related expenditures.

"This is a fact which should concern responsible citizens," Scott concluded, "especially now when there is a demand for tax reductions, at the same time that spending of record proportions is proposed, and another significant increase in the statutory debt limit is held to be required. Federal expenditures can be controlled and reduced, if there is a 'will' to do so on the part of our officials. Citizens should demand that this be done."

Maple Street Arbor Of Gleaners To Have Party

VIRGINIA SASS
HU 5-6424

The Maple Street Arbor of Gleaners will hold a party and meeting Friday night Feb. 1 in the Homer school. Games will begin at 8 o'clock. Ladies are requested to bring either cake or sandwiches. In charge of the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sass, Mr. and Mrs. John White, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Corp and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ruettiger.

Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Stellwagen are the parents of a son born on Jan. 16 in the Silver Cross hospital.

Edward Sproat underwent major surgery on Jan. 17 in Silver Cross hospital.

The Rev. Ian Brown, who recently became a citizen of the United States, was honored at the meeting of the Freeman Fellowship Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nelson.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, a native of Cape Town, South Africa came to this country in 1953, when he entered the University of Chicago. He received his B.D. degree from there in 1958. Following his graduation, he became assistant minister of the First Baptist church at Kalamazoo, Mich., where he was active with youth groups. He served as minister to Baptist students at Western University and also worked with students at Kalamazoo college. The Rev. Mr. Brown has been pastor of the Marley Baptist Community church since May of 1961. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have two children, Craig 4 and Ann, 2 years old.

The Marley Missionary Society met at the Marley church on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Herb Crabb conducted the installation of officers, Mrs. Francis Nelson, president; Mrs. Jack Jordan, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Sproat, secretary; and Mrs. Dan Sass, treasurer. The hostesses were Mrs. Russell Lauffer, Mrs. Crabb, Mrs. Charles Lauffer and Miss Besie Sproat.

The Mothers March on Polio in the Marley area is scheduled for next Tuesday, Jan. 29, it was announced by Mrs. William Loucks, chairman.

There will be a door-to-door canvass in Marley, Oakbrook and surrounding communities, Mrs. Loucks said.

Arbury Hills

Kindergarten Will Open At End Of School In June

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Mokena 5740

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization held its first monthly meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. George Peterson of 9451 West Elm Avenue on Tuesday, Jan. 15. There was an excellent turnout with several new faces present. The plans for the kindergarten session to be held at the school this summer were discussed.

The Kindergarten Organization is a licensed non-profit organization, open to the public. ALL children in the Summit Hill school district and the surrounding area are eligible to enter the kindergarten this summer.

The kindergarten will accept, for the summer session, all children who will attain the age of six years by Dec. 1, 1963 (those who will be eligible for first grade in September). The kindergarten will be taught by a qualified kindergarten teacher, and the class will be limited to 25 students to avoid overcrowding.

The summer session of the kindergarten will run thru June and July after the close of school.

Parents interested in the organization and need more information, may call Mrs. John Hayden, the president, at Mokena 9350.

Those who will need transportation for the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Munday, may also contact Mrs. Hayden. The date of the meeting will be announced, both in this paper and in a letter to be distributed to all homes in the area.

This letter will present, in detail, all pertinent information about the kindergarten and its workings.

There will be a Cub Pack meeting of the newly formed Cub Scout Troop at the old school building, one and one-half miles east of Route 45 on 191st Street. The meeting will take place on Friday evening, Jan. 25 at 8 o'clock.

These cub pack meetings will be held on the last Friday of each month at the old school building at 8 p.m., unless otherwise announced.

All of the cub scouts along with their parents and families, are invited to attend these pack meetings. At this first pack meeting there will be the presentation of the bobcat awards to all the cub scouts thus far enrolled in the program.

Altho there are 18 boys presently participating, more boys who would be interested in scouting, are invited to attend the pack meeting tomorrow and sign up. To be eligible for membership a boy must be of the ages eight, nine, or 10 years old. The Summit Hill Boy Scout Troop 10 will have a day hike this Sunday, Jan. 27; and will also have an overnight camp-out which will be held at the Boy Scout Reservation, Morris, Ill., during the week end of February 8-10.

The week-end camp-out was originally scheduled for mid-January, but it was necessary to re-schedule it since the reservation could not be obtained for that time.

There will be no separate Lions club in Arbury Hills at this time. There was an insufficient number of interested men to form an independent unit. This was determined at the last organizational meeting held at the home of Al Behnke on Thursday, Jan. 17.

If there are still some men who are interested in the Lions club, they are asked to contact Al Behnke at Mokena 5412 for further information on procedures involved in becoming a member of the Mokena Lions. Due to a sudden illness in the family, Mr. De Gries was unable to act as chaperone for the Teens Club meeting on Monday, Jan. 14. Mr. Joe Mangan filled in for him so that there would be the required number of chaperones.

The next meeting of the Teens club will be held at the school on next Monday, Jan. 28, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. The chaperones for this meeting will be Mrs. Virginia Donovan and Mrs. Nancy Funick both of Arbury Hills.

The chaperones for the meeting Feb. 11 will be Mrs. Mary Harris of Arbury Hills and Mrs. Ruby Williams of 191st street and 88th avenue.

The Teens Club is comprised of teenagers in the Summit Hill School District between the ages of 13 and 18. There is always room on the roster for more interested young people in the group.

Marcella Heim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heim, celebrated her seventh birthday with a children's party of some of her girl friends.

Those girls present were: Paula Sheedy, Gwen Cook, Christine Rognlie, Nancy Dickerson, Janet Karkos, Terry Rogal, and Marie Ann Hovi. The party took place at Marcella's home on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 16.

The Brownie Scout Troop Number 103, which is planning to see the Neumayer farm on 191st street, are doing so on the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Neumayer to celebrate their daughter Jill's tenth birthday. Jill is a member of the Brownie Troop. The outing will take place immediately after school on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 5.

PTA Plans Founders Day Celebration For Feb. 7

MRS. EMIL WILLE
Frankfort 5277

The Ann Rutledge PTA held their meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 14 at the school. The meeting was opened with the pledge to the flag led by Mrs. Gladys Vaughn. The PTA prayer was read by Mrs. Audrey April. It was reported that the candles have been delivered to the school.

The tickets are now available for the annual Eastern area council Founders Day banquet which is to be held on Feb. 7 in Beecher. Mrs. Audrey April then introduced the speaker for the evening, Father Cecil Koop, pastor of St. Anthony's church. Hostess for the evening were Mrs. Stanley Balsie, Mrs. Robert Wheeler, and Mrs. Donald Ball.

The recreation club of the Ann Rutledge school had a party last Friday evening, Jan. 11. The children enjoyed an evening of square dancing with Edie Fields doing the calling. Chaperones were Mrs. Marilyn Frankenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Coburn.

Mrs. Frieda Whitaker and granddaughter, Miss Leslie Dickenson of Chesterton, Ind., spent Saturday with the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Emereh Boyden.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin.

CARD PARTY PLANNED AT WESTHAVEN

Plans for a fund-raising card party were completed at the last meeting of the Women's Police Auxiliary of Westhaven held at the home of Mrs. Lee Deming.

The mid-winter card party will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 30 at the Westhaven village hall, 9456 W. 167th st. Various card games and bunco will be offered plus a great number of prizes.

The various committees are under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Darlene Heller, club president.

Mrs. Heller hopes to make a card party a monthly affair to raise funds for the children's benefit fund. The police auxiliary is endeavoring to establish and equip a playground area.

Sunday school, 10 a.m. Sunday worship, 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday prayer meeting, 7 p.m.

ANN SHAW - Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Shaw of Beverly Hills, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann, to G. Deeks Carroll Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Carroll of Orland Park.

Miss Shaw is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan university and is at present teaching in Wauwatosa, Wis.

Mr. Carroll graduated from Monmouth college and is now studying for his masters' degree at the University of Chicago. A late summer wedding is planned.

Nazarenes Plan Rally At N. Lenox

The New Lenox Church of the Nazarene will be host to a zone rally, "Scripturama," on Monday Jan. 28.

Churches from Braidwood, Wilmington, Morris, Joliet, New Lenox, Tinley Park and Orland Park, will be represented.

On Saturday night, Jan. 26, the New Lenox church is to show a film, "The Great Discovery," starring Colleen Townsend Evans, an actress who married a minister. The program is to be held in the church hall, Wood street and North Cedar, at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited. There will be no admission charge but a free will offering will be taken and used to bring more films.

On Sunday, Jan. 27 Rev. Ronald Wolrman, a member of the faculty of Olivet Nazarene college will occupy the pulpit at the morning and evening services, 10:45 and 7:30 o'clock.

The regular weekly prayer meeting will be held at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, Jan. 30.

Chicago Heights band.

Cash and company will go on at the hospital before their nightly club date, thanks to patient Leon E. Frierson's sister, Mrs. Blanche Banks, who interested the performers in the hospital. February 1, they open at the Regal theater.

Mrs. Elsie Reuss, musical therapist, is trying to whip a show together for Washington's birthday. It will feature staff members as well as patients from speech therapy, coached by Larry Kobaci.

Feb. 24, the Oak Lawn band will appear in concert on the Oak Forest stage, directed by John Draper.

In addition to shows, a limited number of parties are possible, in keeping with health department dietary rules. Feb. 8, the Southtown Woman's Club will have a party for the patients assigned to occupational therapy. Mrs. R. Burmeister, 1629 W. 93rd street, is chairman.

Feb. 12th, the Esther Circle of the Grace Church, Park Forest, will be hosts at their monthly coffee klatsch for their adopted ward. Mrs. Mark Corby, 224 South Orchard drive, heads the hostesses who will pour. The Ivanhoe Methodist Church Women will treat their ward to a similar party on January 22.

JUDITH WARE -- Mr. and Mrs. Lawson T. Ware, 12526 South 75th ave., Palos Heights, wish to announce the coming marriage of their daughter Judith to James W. Gee, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gee, 143rd and 76th ave., Orland Park. The date has been set for June 29, at the Palos Park Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Paul M. Lundell officiating.

Miss Ware is a graduate of Carl Sandburg high school and is now a sophomore at Monmouth college. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. Mr. Gee is also a graduate of Carl Sandburg high school and is a senior at Monmouth. He is a member of Phi Alpha social fraternity.

Push For Law To Form Refuse Disposal Dists.

(CNS) Efforts to secure legislation for establishment of municipal refuse disposal districts continued at a meeting Jan. 10, of the year old North Suburban Council on Refuse Disposal.

The draft of proposed bill for such a district, prepared with the help of the Illinois Municipal League, was presented to the council by Lyle Richmond, Chairman of the legal and legislative committee of the council. The council voted to submit copies of the bill to each of the participating communities for study and revision.

The bill provides for organization of a refuse disposal district in any contiguous territory having a population of not less than 25,000 in a series of steps: a) a petition for a referendum on the question of whether to organize; b) hearing before the county judge to establish boundaries of the district; c) referendum on the question; d) appointment of trustees of the district; e) tax levy.

"The hardest job here will be to get legislative sponsors of the bill," said Richmond, who is also village attorney for Kenilworth. At an earlier meeting last fall with members of the Illinois Municipal League and the Illinois Municipal Problems Commission, a league spokesman pointed out that at present the urgent need for refuse disposal legislation is in the northern metropolitan counties. Any proposed legislation, he said, should be drafted with an eye to downstate support.

Offers Course In Gardening

This spring homeowners will again battle their lawns and home landscape. Money will be spent, equipment used, and plenty of physical exercise will be devoted to the annual crusade against sick lawns, shrubs and trees.

To assist green thumb crusaders, St. Francis College of Joliet is offering an adult evening course on landscaping. Co-operating with the college are members of Will County Cooperative Extension Service. Will County Farm Adviser A. A. Wicklein and his assistant Joseph Jopek will provide useful, practical, and helpful hints on the art and science of landscaping, it was stated. Both graduates of the University of Illinois, Wicklein and Jopek will offer the green thumb education weekly from Feb. 13 to April 3 at St. Francis college.

Subjects to be covered over the eight weeks include general soil information, lawn seed, lawn pests, and lawn management. The principles of landscaping, selection, planting, and care of landscape plant material will also be discussed. Plans also include information on flower borders, patios and trees for the landscape.

Anyone is invited to take part in the course. Registration for the course can be made at St. Francis College, Wilcox and Taylor Streets, Joliet. Further information also may be obtained there.

Text Books On Display

A collection of text books from the latter half of the 19th century will be displayed at the Book Shelf, 11350 Harlem ave., Worth. The books will be on display from Jan. 22 thru Feb. 28.

Included among the books is a three-volume set of Shakespeare's Works published sometime before 1890 and copies of the National Geographic from the early 1900's.

Individuals are invited to drop in at any time during store hours to view the collection. The shop is open daily, except Sundays and Mondays from 10 to 4, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9.

Classes or other groups who wish to visit the exhibit may phone 448-5676 to arrange for an appointment at other than store hours.

Oak Park Patients Want To Hear Book Reviews

The librarians at Oak Forest hospital, 159th and S. Cicero ave., are seeking "live book reviews" to fulfill the requests of nearly 100 of the most avid readers among the 2400 chronically ill patients. Volunteers may schedule their date by calling 687-2360.

Current best sellers as well as recent years' fiction and non fiction would be appreciated, according to Mrs. Bernice Cook, chief librarian.

The reviews have become quite an event in the patients' lives.

The day before, the librarians send each of the "big readers" an invitation, delivered to their bedside. Volunteer librarians held those in wheelchairs who need a push to get to the program on time. Assisted by the dietary department, the librarians set out the punch bowl and cookies for those who like to gather around the reviewer at the conclusion of the program.

Oak Forest hospital's recreation department is also seeking entertainment - variety shows by adults, teens, and children are the most popular for day or evening performances in the patients' auditorium, available seven days a week, according to Perry Latham, recreation director. They may be booked by calling 687-2360.

A lively show which will follow supper on Jan. 26 is being staged by "The Crawlers," fast dancing, four brothers - Alvin Cash, 23, with teenagers Robert, Rubin, and George, of 6531 Minerva ave. They will be backed up by "Little Caesar and His House Rockers," a

Will County Heart Fund Unit Seeks Volunteers

Don Turk, assistant cashier of the Union National Bank in Joliet, will be chairman of the 1963 County Heart Fund campaign, it was announced by the Will County Heart Association. The heart fund drive is scheduled for the entire month of February. Vice chairman in charge of small communities will be Marshall Ley, attorney-at-law.

E.B. Werkman, chairman of the Will County Heart unit, made public the appointments this week and also announced a list of committee chairmen for the month-long campaign which begins throughout the nation on Feb. 1. The heart fund drive will reach its high point here on Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, when over a hundred volunteers in all of the community's residential districts will call on their neighbors for contributions. In accepting the appointment, the new campaign chairman pointed out that local heart fund contributions make possible the support of cardiovascular research in Illinois, and aid scientists in clinics and university laboratories throughout the nation.

Research, Mr. Turk said, plays an important role in the Heart Association's program. Since 1948, more than 75 million Heart Fund research dollars have contributed to the great progress made in saving hearts through new methods of diagnosis and treatment. Additionally, he said, Heart Fund dollars support broad programs of public and professional education and community service.

"There are more than 20 types of heart disease and many kinds of blood vessel diseases," the new campaign chairman explained. "The Heart Fund fights them all," he added. "It is my fervent hope that every family in this community will take to heart the slogan of our campaign -- 'More will live the more you give' -- and give generously."

Volunteers wishing to donate their services to the Heart Fund drive are asked to call the Will County Heart Unit office, 15 West Jackson Street, Joliet at 727-1511.

Seven-Figure Dialing starts February 17

That's the date when all three towns will receive seven-figure dialing. This means that, beginning February 17, Frankfort and Mokena customers will dial seven figures instead of four for local calls, and New Lenox customers will dial seven figures instead of five.

Also on February 17, there will be a change in dialing SOME calls and SOME NUMBERS in nearby communities will be entirely new. So -- be sure to check your new directory, which you'll receive early next month, before making a call, beginning February 17.

The nation's expanding needs for new phone services such as Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) - which also arrives February 17 - call for many new telephone prefixes (your prefix is the first three digits of your seven-figure telephone number). Only the new-style, seven-figure system provides enough prefixes to best serve everyone.

HOMER NEWS

BY ELIZABETH ANDERSON

Little Patricia Mitchell, daughter of the Ross Mitchells of 159th St., returned home Tuesday after being in St. Joseph's Hospital for more than two weeks for treatment of peritonitis.

Sparky Shepherd returned home Monday from Silver Cross Hospital where he underwent surgery the preceding Thursday.

The Homer Fire Department was called to help fight the fire last week at the warehouse near Cass St., Joliet.

The Northwest Homer Fire Department extinguished a fire in a trailer camp on 4-A Monday night.

The Missionary Society of Homer Church will hold its monthly meeting at the church on Thursday, Jan. 31, at 1 o'clock weather permitting. Dessert-coffee will be served by Mrs. Reed Burch and Mrs. Ira Anderson. The newly elected officers will be in charge and committees for the year will be appointed by Mrs. Robert Shepherd.

On Jan. 27, Rev. Cox will preach on the topic, "The Danger of a Handy Religion." This week has been designated as Youth Week.

There have been several cases of scarlet fever in the Reed-Ludwig schools and Supt. Bitter cancelled all extra-curricular activities for a few days, but resumed them this week, as the epidemic seems to have stopped.

Mrs. Carl Cochran is hospitalized for observation and medical treatment at Silver Cross.

The attendance at Reed-Ludwig school was depleted last week by the absence of more than 100 pupils who were ill with scarlet fever, flu and chicken pox.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Rogers of E. Division St. are spending several weeks with his parents in Georgia, due to the serious illness of his father.

Perry H. Wise, whose funeral was held last Thursday afternoon, was a native of Homer, having lived with his family on the farm now owned by the Blasius Bucks. He attended the Barnett school. Since moving from Homer, they have lived in and near Lockport. He is survived by his wife, the former Mabel Johnson of Lockport, one son Kenneth of Naperville, two grandchildren, and his aged

Catholic Population Up 7% In Diocese Of Joliet

Altho the percentage of church membership did not keep pace with national population the past year, the Catholic population of the Joliet Diocese increased by seven per cent and rose slightly above, percentage-wise, the over-all population of its seven counties.

Catholics in the diocese now number 240,079, according to latest figures given to the Catholic Directory. This total is 15,599 higher than last year's total of 224,480 Catholics. Catholics form just less than one-third of the total population of the area.

Immaculate Conception parish in Elmhurst boasts the highest parish population, with 6,581 parishioners; the Cathedral of St. Raymond, with 6,224, at Joliet is second largest.

Others of the 10 largest parishes in the diocese are St. Patrick's, Joliet, 6,200; Sts. Peter and Paul's, Naperville, 5,950; St. Joseph's Downers Grove, 5,800; Sacred Heart, Lombard, 5,788; Visitation parish, Elmhurst, 5,700; St. Joseph's parish, Addison, 5,700; St. Alexander's parish, Villa Park, 5,584; and St. Petronille's, Glen Ellyn, 5,403.

Nine of the "top 10" parishes were listed as such the past year too. This year St. Anthony's parish, Joliet, is replaced by St. Joseph's Addison. These 10 most populous parishes account for almost one-fourth of the total Catholic population in the diocese.

rollment, which reached its zenith in September, stands at 30,312 in the grade schools and 6,360 in high schools, for a total of 36,672. This figure passes by 1,161 the past year's student total of 35,511.

There were 1,564 deaths in the diocese and 1,435 marriages, as compared to 1,391 deaths and 1,310 marriages in 1961. Some 568 were converted to the Catholic faith.

One of the trends seen in the past few years in the diocese is the marked population increase in the newer parishes in the suburbs, where younger families live.

There are at present 149 diocesan priests active, an increase of four over last year, and 245 religious priests. The total of 399 or five more than the past year. The number of Brothers and Sisters is 190 and 968 respectively.

Three parishes were added to the diocese the past year: St. Mark's in Wheaton, St. Scholastica's in Woodridge, and St. John Vianney's in Fairmont, bringing the total number of parishes to 96.

Report 1962 A Good

Year For Many Farmers

BY L. H. SIMERL
EXTENSION SERVICE
U OF I AG.

Last year, 1962, was a good one for many farmers, especially those in the north central states. Many crop yields set new records, and prices of meat animals were better than average.

Total U.S. crop production was 1 percent larger in 1962 than in 1961 and was equal to the record high set in 1960. Production averaged 17 percent higher in these latest three years than 10 years before.

Acreage smallest on Record. The total acreage of crops harvested was 3 percent less than in 1961 and was the smallest since records were started back in 1909. The government's

December Base Milk Price Set at $3.68 Per Hundred

Dairy farmers shipping milk to Chicago Order 30 handlers in December will be paid a minimum of $3.68 per cwt. on base milk, with a 24-cent superpremium included, and $3.44 per cwt. on excess milk, Harry L. Edwards, director of marketing for Pure Milk Association, reported.

The $3.44 price of excess milk is the uniform blended price announced for producer milk under Order 30 in December.

These prices are for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat test delivered to plants within the 55- to 70-mile zone. The differential for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat above or below 3.5 percent is 7 cents per cwt.

December deliveries totaled 504,604,207 pounds. This was 1 1/2 percent more than for the same month in 1962.

Approximately 52 percent of total producer milk under Order 30 in December, this year, was used for Class I and Class wheat and feed grain programs reduced acreage below normal. The average yield of 18 leading field crops was 4 percent higher than in 1961, the previous best year. The 1962 average was 45 percent above the five-year average just 10 years earlier.

Corn. The national average yield of corn is officially estimated at 64.1 bushels per acre, 2 bushels more than in 1961 and 19 bushels over the 10-year 1951-60 average. Illinois, with an official average of 83 bushels, had the highest yield of all the states (except Washington, which raises corn under irrigation). Many Illinois farmers harvested from 100 to 135 bushels per acre. The crop was so good that farmers admitted it, Indiana was second in yield, with 82 bushels. Soybeans. The national average yield in 1962 was 24.2 bushels an acre, 1 bushel less than in 1961 but 2 1/2 bushels more than the 10-year average. Illinois had the best state average, 28.5 bushels, the same as in 1961. Indiana ranked second with 28.0 bushels per acre.

Wheat. The national average wheat yield was 25.1 bushels per acre, 1.1 bushels more than in the previous year and 4.4 bushels more than the 10-year average. Illinois' wheat was only fair. The average yield was 32.5 bushels, 3.5 bushels less than in 1961, but 4.7 bushels more than the 10-year average.

Beef cattle. Cattle feeders had a good year in 1962. Because prices trended strongly upward, profit margins were unusually favorable. Consumers did not suffer. In fact, they had more beef per person—89 pounds—than ever before.

Hogs. Prices were favorable, but not too high, in 1962. Hog producers have been making reasonably good profits for nearly 26 months.

1963—It will be a big, though welcome, surprise if corn yields as well this year as it did in 1962. Soybean yield should equal that of last year, and wheat could be better. Prices for meat animals, poultry and eggs seem likely to average slightly lower than they did last year, but price levels may still be profitable.

No. III. Planning Group Says It Needs More Money

(CNS) Nineteen southwestern communities were asked to double their contributions to the Northern Illinois Planning Commission last week. Requested contributions ranged from $50 to $600 in this area, and are based on population.

Amounts for 1963 asked from municipalities in southwest Cook county are: Oak Lawn, $600; Evergreen Park, $500; Chicago Ridge, Midlothian, Hometown and Worth, each $200; and Tinley Park, Orland Park, Alsip, Country Club Hills, Oak Forest, Justice, Lemont, Palos Heights and Palos Hills, each $100. The minimum of $50 yearly is requested from Crestwood, Palos Park and Mokena.

In addition to requests from municipalities, Chester R. Davis, president of the commission, said that participating counties were asked for the following amounts: Cook, $100,000; Du Page, $10,000; Kane, $8,000; Lake, $10,000; McHenry, $5,000, and Will, $8,000. The city of Chicago has been asked to contribute $50,000 and the state of Illinois $100,000. The 245 municipalities were asked for a total of $25,000.

The request for a hundred dollar donation from the village of Orland Park was turned down by the board there. The members felt that the commission was becoming rather expensive for all the good that it was doing for the southwest suburbs.

The Orland Park trustees say the commission is devoting too much time to projects and plans for the benefit of the north and western suburbs. The request for $50 from Mokena was not taken up at the last board meeting and when this was written no one was available who could say whether it was made.

What the supervisors will do relative to the requests made by the planning commission of the counties will be decided later. Political observers are inclined to the belief that the county boards are likely to reject the requests. These observers say that the charge is made that the principal benefits from such a commission would accrue to the city of Chicago and the real estate dealers therein.

Get Those 1963 Licenses Now, Or Else

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter today reminded motorists that only six weeks now remain before the February 16 deadline for displaying 1963 license plates on their vehicles.

The same as in past years, he pointed out, this is a deadline for having the plates mounted on the vehicles, not merely a deadline for having submitted applications. To be sure of having their plates in time for the deadline, persons applying by mail should have their ap-

Reports Most Illinois Farmers Had Good Year

BY L. H. SIMERL
(EXTENSION SERVICE, ILL. COLLEGE OF AG.)

Most Illinois farmers are having a good year in 1962. Livestock prices have been favorable. Crop yields were generally at or near record levels in all areas except for a few counties in southern Illinois.

About 80 percent of Illinois farmers' income comes from four products—cattle, hogs, corn and soybeans. About 12 percent more comes from milk and wheat. Returns from most of these products were good in 1962.

Beef cattle. Sales of cattle and calves produced 22 percent of the cash received from marketing Illinois farm products in 1961. Prices of cattle rose strongly from mid-1961 to September of this year—about 34 percent in 14 months. They have held up well since September. The average price of Choice steers at Chicago for the year to mid-November was about $27.50 a hundred pounds, better than any yearly average since 1959. Prices for all of 1962 may be the best in ten years.

The strong prices for cattle this year are not due to scarcity. Consumers are getting enough beef to provide about 89 pounds per person. This is a new record and 40 percent more than was available ten years ago. Ranchers and farmers are producing cattle slightly faster than they are being sold. Whensales catch up with production, possibly in 1963, cattle prices are expected to decline moderately.

Hogs. Sales of hogs brought in 21 percent of the cash received for Illinois farm products in 1961. Prices have been good for nearly three years. They averaged about $17 a hundred pounds at terminal markets during this year to mid-November. Since June, monthly averages have been at the best levels in four years. Reports from farmers point to only a very moderate increase in hog production in 1963. Consequently, prices and profits are expected to remain at favorable levels for another year.

Corn. Corn sales produced 19 percent of total receipts from Illinois farm products last year. Average yield for the 1962 crop is officially estimated at 82 bushels per acre, 7 percent more than the record set last year and 23 percent more than five-year 1956-60 average. Market prices have averaged nearly $1 a bushel so far this year, about the same as in recent years. The price support level was $1.20 a bushel for both 1961 and 1962 crops, the highest since the 1958 crop was supported at $1.36.

Soybeans. In 1961 soybeans accounted for 17 percent of Illinois farmers' receipts from marketings. The 1962 crop is estimated at 28.5 bushels per acre, the same as the record set in 1956 and equaled last year. Prices received by farmers for the 1961 crop averaged nearly the support of $2.30 a bushel, and prices for the 1962 crop are almost as good.

Dairy. Sales of milk produce 7 percent of Illinois farm income. Both prices and production have been fairly well stabilized in recent years, and little change is in sight for 1963.

Wheat. Illinois farmers get 5 percent of their income from wheat. Average yield for the 1962 crop was 32 bushels per acre, 11 percent less than in 1961 but 9 percent more than the five-year average. Prices received for the 1962 crop should be the best in several years. The support level of $2 a bushel is about 20¢ over levels of the four previous years.

Lease Arsenal Land For Hay, Grazing

Plans for the leasing of four tracts of land covering a total of 2,895 acres at Joliet Arsenal, Joliet, for grazing and hay purposes were announced today by the Chicago Army District, according to Col. J. A. Smedile, Chicago District Engineer.

Sealed bids will be received until 10 a.m. Friday, December 14, then publicly opened at the office of the Post Engineer at the arsenal.

Leases will be for a 10-year period, beginning March 1, 1963 and ending February 28, 1973. On all land offered the lessee will be required to follow, at his own expense, a specific crop rotation plan. The specific plan for each tract will be attached to and become part of the lease. Construction, repair and maintenance of fences will be the lessee's responsibility.

The first tract, containing 336 acres, is to be used for pasture, as is the second tract, comprising 896 acres. The third, of 543 acres, is to be used for hay and the fourth, of 1,120 acres, for pasture.

About 90 animals, or a number sufficient not to overgraze, may be grazed on the first tract, 350 on the second and 450 on the fourth. Grazing is limited to cattle.
